Send my client to jail – lawyer

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A VICAR'S son has been sent to prison after his own lawyer said custody was his best hope of beating drugs.

Timothy Finn, 21, was sentenced to 12 weeks in jail after admitting possessing a knife in a children's playground, damaging a door at a school swimming pool and breaking a window at a petrol station – as well as being in breach of a community order and a conditional discharge.

Magistrates sentenced him to eight weeks' imprisonment for possessing the knife, with no separate penalty for the two criminal damage offences, and revoked the community order, replacing it with four weeks in prison, to be served consecutively.

Colette Griffiths, prosecuting, said the first offence happened at the BP garage in Bury Road, Newmarket, at 2.30am in June when Finn had spoken to a staff member, who he knew.

At first Finn was friendly, but then got angry and said he wanted money, before starting to kick and crack a glass window.

At Wickhambrook recreation ground on July 3, Finn was seen with a knife sticking out of his pocket.

County's top man to visit town

SUFFOLK'S Lord Lieutenant Lord Tollemache will visit Haverhill next month to see how enterprising the town has become.

Haverhill Chamber of Commerce will host the visit on Tuesday, November 17, when the Queen's representative for Suffolk will see several local businesses and schools, before attending a lunch reception.

Lord Tollemache contacted Sarah Howard, chairman of the Haverhill Chamber, to arrange the visit after reading her open letter to Suffolk County Council. In it, she expressed concern about the Boundary Commission's proposal for a unitary boundary as opposed to the option of a three unitary system which is widely favoured in the local area.

Ms Howard said: "I am delighted that he is coming to find out for himself about the enterprise and energy that provides the foundations for Haverhill's continued success. We have planned the itinerary for the day to demonstrate enterprise in action within Haverhill. The Haverhill Chamber believes that this visit increases our visibility in the county. We see this as an opportunity to promote the benefits the town has to offer and to enhance our attractiveness for inward investment."

Mum and baby sister on family's wish list

Waiting to be reunited: Nick Addington with children Nathan, 10, and Natasha, 12. Below, Natasha, Sarah, Nick, Jane and Nathan. Main picture: Keith Jones 605466/CP

A minister and his two children have only one thing on their Christmas wish list this year – that wife and mother Jane and baby sister Sarah will be able to join them.

Nick Addington arrived in the UK in July, after spending close to 13 years working as a cardiac technician at a Christian Hospital in India, accompanied by his children Natasha, 12, and Nathan, 10.

Nick took over in September as the pastoral leader at the Church in the Field group based in Kedington.

But his wife Jane remains at their Indian home at Chandigarh, north of Delhi, continuing the legal battle which has gone on for almost three years to adopt Sarah, who will be three in November, and has been living with the family since she was five days old.

The couple started adoption proceedings as soon as they began caring for Sarah, whose unmarried mother was unable to keep her and was preparing to leave her at an orphanage.

However, their efforts have not succeeded so far, being caught up in the endless bureaucracy of the country's legal system, where even the Law Minister concedes that the average case takes 15 years to settle.

Nick trained as a cardiac technician at a Christian hospital in Hackney, before moving to India to help train others to act as technicians at missions across Africa and India and setting up the Chandigarh Bible College. He met and married wife Jane in India and they already shared the desire to adopt another child, when a man visited them to say that his sister-in-law had a baby she could not keep.

Nick said: "The mother and child came from the hospital to stay with us and we offered to financially support her so that she could keep the child. But she had been thrown out of home by her parents and it was just like it would have been here 50 years ago. She would have gone to the orphanage with Sarah, had we not taken her.

"The system is totally frustrating, but we believe God brought Sarah to us and he will work it all out. We have no objection to the authorities making sure that the child's interests are paramount. In May a judge ruled that she should be with her mother and we are appealing against that, but we have had six hearing dates since then and nothing has happened.

"It is hard, especially for the children being apart from their mother, but she is living close to her parents, so she is not in India completely alone. I am sure she will bring Sarah home eventually, but there is no way of knowing when. The next hearing is due on November 17 and the children are hoping they could be home for Christmas, but I doubt if it will be that soon."

Church in the Field, established in Kedington in 1988, meets every Sunday morning at 10.30am in Kedington Community Centre. For further information, call (01440) 761101 or 786904.

Get in the swing with a lot of brass

FANS of big band and swing sound music are in for a treat when a brass band tunes up to play some of the classics.

Haverhill Silver Band will perform a concert of swing and big band music at Haverhill Arts Centre on Sunday, November 7, featuring pieces like How Do Ya Like Your eggs in the Morning? made famous by Dean Martin and "Opus One" in the style of the Glenn Miller Band.

Big Band Brass starts at 7.30pm and is financially assisted by Genzyme Ltd. Tickets are £6.50/£5, available from the box office on (01440) 714140.

This will be the last standard concert by the band before the Christmas season which starts with a joint concert with the Youth and Community Band, also at the Town Hall, on Sunday, December 13, in a "Family Christmas Concert" at 4pm.

Vehicle stolen after break-in

A MERCEDES car was stolen from the driveway of a house at Hawthorn Road, Haverhill, after thieves broke in by forcing a window and taking the keys.

The theft happened between 11.30pm on Monday, October 26 and 6.20am on Tuesday and the vehicle taken was a black Mercedes CLS, registration EK59XZP. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to DC Elaine England at Haverhill CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555

Church to hold table top sale

A TABLE top sale will be held to raise cash for flowers to decorate a church.

The event will take place at the church pavilion at St Mary the Virgin Church, Linton, on Saturday from 10am to 3pm. There will also be a raffle and refreshments. Verger Nanette Blackmore would like to hear from anyone interested in having a table at the sale on (01223) 891111.

Car parts are taken

THE spare wheel cover and a chrome exhaust tip were stolen from a green Mitsubishi Pajero at Pakenham Place, Haverhill, between 5am on Saturday and 8.15pm on Sunday.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to PC Andrew Green at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 11.

Virus closes hospital ward to new admissions

A HOSPITAL ward has been closed to new admissions after an outbreak of the winter vomiting bug.

West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds, which treats patients from the Newmarket and Haverhill areas, has closed its ward F7 after seven patients showed symptoms of the contagious diarrhoea and vomiting virus.

Wards at the hospital have previously been affected by the bug, known as norovirus.

Visitors who may have suffered sickness or diarrhoea have been warned to stay away.

Dr Caroline Barker, the hospital's infection control doctor, said: "Norovirus is very infectious and every year there are cases in the community which transfer to the hospital. Because the virus has an incubation period of several days, people are often unaware that they are carrying it until after they have passed it on. We are managing the current cases using our stringent infection control policies and have been proactive to stop the infection from spreading to any other wards. Our cleaning staff have also been working hard to make sure enhanced cleaning takes place."

Visitors are being asked to wash their hands using soap and water as alcohol gel is not effective against the virus.

Council sets out plan to slash £2.5m off budget

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

ST EDMUNDSBURY Borough Council could be forced to shed jobs and sell off its Haverhill offices in a bid to save £2.5m over the next two years.

Members of the council are currently looking at ways to make further savings to plug holes in the budget and increase income to protect essential services.

Cllr Paul Farmer, cabinet member responsible for finance, said the current economic climate had forced the council to take a hard look at its budget. A combination of reduced income from savings and more demand for some services meant savings were needed.

Potential savings being considered include reviewing the council's accommodation needs in Haverhill (from 2011), in partnership with voluntary agencies and other partners to save £60,000, and transferring ownership and control of community centres across the borough to local users, which could save £90,000.

Other ideas are to replace permanent staff at public conveniences in Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds with "mobile" workers to save £65,000, join the revenues and benefits service with other partners to save £200,000 and to leave the post of corporate director vacant, saving the council £70,000.

The new Kidz Zone at Haverhill Leisure Centre was one of the areas of increased income identified.

Cllr Farmer said: "It will be a challenge, but St Edmundsbury's reputation for excellence – especially in managing our staff and finances efficiently – means we are well equipped to tackle the future."

"We will protect the services which people tell us matter the most to them, such as safety, cleanliness and open spaces. And we will invest in those areas that will benefit people the most, such as job creation, economic prosperity and the environment."

Other cost-cutting measures being considered are rearranging services and contracts to cut staff overtime by £58,000 and increasing the level of prosecution costs asked for in court cases to raise £18,000.

Although the budget will not be decided until February, councillors and staff have been working on the viability of the ideas for several months.

The proposals will be discussed by the policy development committee next week, which will pass on its recommendations to the cabinet. Consultations will then be carried out with those affected by the proposed changes.

Cllr Farmer said: "We will protect services and invest in communities through careful and sensible use of the money and staff resources available to us so we can keep council tax as low as possible."

Reptiles invade centre for spooky half-term fun

BEARDED dragons and snakes got acquainted with some new young friends during the half-term break.

A Reptile House session was held at Haverhill Leisure Centre on Tuesday, when children got the chance to have their photograph taken with real snakes, bearded dragons and spiders.

It was just one of a number of events held at the centre during the week. A spooky Hallowe'en ball was held the same evening and tomorrow between 10am and 3pm there will be a chance to try street dance, streetball/basketball and cheerleading and get tips from world class freestylers, followed by a Hallowe'en party. For more information call (01440) 702548.

Man wanted over change plea incidents

POLICE have issued a CCTV image of a man (pictured left) they want to trace following two fraud offences in Haverhill centre shops

A man who managed to leave with more cash than he started with, was involved in two incidents in the High Street between 12.45pm and 12.55pm on Thursday, October 8.

He entered a clothes shop and asked for change. He confused the assistant and managed to leave with more money than he handed over.

He is described as white, in his late 40s, 6ft tall, with receding short brown hair and was wearing a dark coloured top. He spoke with a local accent.

A man then entered a newsagent five minutes later and asked for change, managing to leave with more than he started with. The man is described as white, in his late 30s to early 40s, of slim build, 6ft tall with short brown hair and was wearing a zipped up tan sweatshirt. He spoke with a northern accent.

Calls in relation to these incidents should be made to Pc Dan Steel at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

'Send client to jail' plea

The knife had a three to four-inch blade and Finn was persuaded to hand it over by a woman in the park.

The next day a caretaker at Wickhambrook Primary School heard shouting from the swimming pool. Another person saw two men throwing things into the pool and recognised Finn. It was discovered that a toilet door had been kicked in.

In August, Finn was given the conditional discharge for stealing a bottle of after-shave and was in breach of a conditional discharge imposed in June for a public order offence.

Lyndon Davies, defending at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court, said Finn, whose father Ian used to be the vicar of Wickhambrook, was now of no fixed address and a heroin user. All of the offences had occurred after he had been drinking as well.

Mr Davies said: "With some regret I feel that in these circumstances I have to propose to the court a period of custody. He is in danger from using heroin and alcohol at the same time, which can be a lethal combination. He needs help before he ends up not just back in court, but something worse."

Richard Kemp, chairman of the magistrates, said: "This is a very sad set of circumstances. The only outcome to all of that is a period of custody."

Rider injured in fall at skatepark

A TEENAGE boy from Haverhill suffered a head injury after falling at the One Minet Skatepark in Saffron Walden.

Ambulance and fire crews were called to the scene of the accident just after 6.20pm on Sunday.

Mike Studd, emergency care practitioner, said: "We were told that the boy had been riding his bike inside a skateboarding bowl when he fell and suffered a serious head injury which left him unconscious.

"When I arrived, a first-aider from the nearby Lord Butler Leisure Centre was with the boy.

"I assessed him and found he had possible fractures to his cheekbone and jaw, and due to the seriousness of his injuries I called for a doctor to assist.

"After the doctor stabilised the patient's condition, fire crews helped us get the boy out of the skateboarding bowl.

"He was then taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital, where his condition upon arrival was serious but stable."

No update on the condition of the 15-year-old boy has been released, but Mr Studd said the fact that he was wearing a helmet saved him from more serious injuries.

Welcome surprises for young poster designers

A NURSERY was inundated with entries for a competition – held in association with the Weekly News – to design a poster publicising its new premises.

Tiny Toes moved into a new, purpose-built site off Homefield Road, Haverhill, in August.

The competition, which was open to everyone, attracted more than 100 entries and parents who collected their children from the nursery were asked to vote on the winners.

This week Chapman and Sons toy and bicycle shop in High Street, Haverhill, welcomed the winners to hand over vouchers it had donated as prizes, which are valid for a year so that they do not have to spend it all at once.

First prize of £100 worth of vouchers went to Abigail Eyre, aged 9, from Castle Camps, who attends Tiny Toes and entered.

Second prize winner was Ben Winney, 8, from Haverhill, who received £75 in vouchers and joint third prize winners of £50 each were Chrissie Kaniou, 10, of Hundon, and Amy Hull, 14, of Haverhill.

Alan Nickson, general manager at Tiny Toes, said: "It was a great success.

"We were a bit surprised at how many people got the paper and joined in the fun of it. We put the pictures out when the parents came to collect their children and they voted for their first, second and third places."

The nursery caters for babies up to teenagers, providing pre-school, after school and holiday care. For more information phone (01440) 702151

Exciting times ahead for our 'livelier' town

Hello, I'm Tina Hanks, town centre manager for Haverhill, here with my new monthly column to tell you what's happening in Haverhill.

My job is about being on the spot, to work with all agencies to sort out any problems and to support the development of a thriving town centre in Haverhill.

And the town centre has been transformed in the past few months, beginning a year ago with the opening of Haverhill Cineworld. This summer, the leisure centre reopened after its £5 million refurbishment and last month Tesco arrived.

The reorganised road system around the supermarket has new footpaths, encouraging Tesco shoppers to take advantage of their three hours free parking and visit the town centre. There they will find that Queen Street and The Piggle have had an attractive makeover and that new shops have opened. Iceland, WHSmith, Costa Coffee and Holland and Barrett have all come into the High Street.

The town centre is much livelier now and lots more people are visiting it.

Outside the town centre, the business sector in Haverhill continues to go from strength to strength, with groups like the

This week marks the start of a new column from Haverhill town centre manager Tina Hanks, who will update Weekly News readers each month on the latest news and views from the thriving heart of our town.

Chamber of Commerce and Haverhill Enterprise doing their best to promote and attract new businesses to the town. You may have noticed the recent CB9 Business-to-Business exhibition, at the Leisure Centre.

Looking to the future, the newly refurbished Queen Street will be launched with an authentic Italian market on Friday, November 13 and Saturday, November 14. Look out for the advertisements.

The free Winter in West Suffolk brochure is being distributed, with a large section on what's on in Haverhill.

The town council is mounting a lively arts and leisure programme, and the possibility of extending the Friday market into the High Street is being discussed.

I hope my face is already familiar to you as I have been doing my best to meet everyone who works in the town centre. If you would like to meet me or tell me about any concern you have, please don't hesitate to contact me at Tina.Hanks@stedsbc.gov.uk or phone (01440) 765100.

Carved creations just for Hallowe'en

YOUNGSTERS got the chance to test their artistic talents by carving out a Hallowe'en pumpkin at a half-term play scheme.

Claire Bowden, community champion for Haverhill's new Tesco store, went along to the group, which meets at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill, to donate the pumpkins, which the youngsters used to make spooky Hallowe'en lamps and other figures.

Claire has been appointed by Tesco to find worthwhile community groups and projects that the company can support by sponsorship or prizes.

She can be contacted on 07984 853300.

Remark causes anger in square

SHOPKEEPERS have reacted angrily to comments by a local business leader that the square where they trade should be bulldozed.

Richard Herbert, chairman of the Haverhill Enterprise group, made the comment about Haverhill's Queens Square at the opening of the group's recent business exhibition.

Debbie Rawlings, who has run Cuts Unlimited salon in the square for the past decade, said she and others traders were unimpressed by the remarks.

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

She said: "If he wants to bulldoze the square, what does he expect all the people who are running their business to do? Does he expect to put us all out of business?"

"People are not at all happy about what he said, he is supposed to represent local businesses in the town, but he is not representing us.

"I am probably one of those who has been here the longest and we would like to see something done to improve the area – it is a bit dated.

"However, I do not see how it could be bulldozed without putting us all out of business. We are real people running businesses that he is talking about, not empty buildings.

"We would like to see the area upgraded, especially now that they have done all the work around Tesco, but where are we supposed to go if our shops are not there any more."

Speaking at the exhibition, which was opened by Stephen Robertson, director general of the British Retail Consortium, Mr Herbert said the town's variety of retail needed to be improved to keep pace with other expansion in the town.

A spokesman for St Edmundsbury Borough Council said: "Queens Square is privately owned property and it is therefore the prerogative of the land owner to initiate any improvement proposals."

Police hit streets to fight crime

POLICE officers across Suffolk are inviting members of the public to help tackle problems in their local area.

Events highlighting the work being done to reduce crime by Suffolk police, local district and borough councils, Neighbourhood Watch and other agencies will be held during Not In My Neighbourhood Week, which starts on Monday.

In Haverhill, the Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) will hold a police surgery at Sainsbury's on Monday from 10am-noon, and a police street meeting will take place at Tesco on Friday, November 6, from 2-4pm.

On Wednesday, from 10am to 1pm at Queensway, North Avenue and The Causeway, the Community Safety Unit and SNT officers will be visit around 450 properties to offer advice on reducing garage and shed crime. Crime reduction equipment such as UV pens will be given out.

At Kedington Community Centre on Wednesday, from 3.30pm, there will be an afternoon of fun and information with the SNT, Suffolk Fire Service, St John Ambulance and road policing unit. This will be followed by a "meet and greet" event at 7pm at the community centre, where PCSO Deborah Carroll-Beer, Cllr Marion Rushbrook and Steve Brown, committee member of Kedington Community Association, will be walking around the village to talk to young people. They will also be handing out crime prevention leaflets and advice.

Clean up after your dogs

Sir, I'm sure we could find many more arguments for and against the use of leads (Dogs must be kept on leads – Letters, October 22). But please allow me a moment not to worry about the doggie don'ts but please, please let's focus on the doggie doo's.

In this week alone I have battled with muck on shoes, got it on my hands when collapsing my daughter's buggy and counted almost 10 fresh piles on the path of the local "mine field", more commonly known as School Road, a very busy road which services three major schools as well as pre-schools.

I understand it may not always be possible to remove, after all we humans do have digestive problems at times too, but please spare a thought for the children who walk into school and us parents that have to try to get it out of clothes and carpets.

Poppy Appeal needs support

Sir, On behalf of the Suffolk County Council, and mayors and chairmen of the borough and district councils throughout Suffolk, I write to urge everyone in Suffolk to support the Poppy Appeal of the Royal British Legion.

This year, as every year, we remember with gratitude those who served in the two World Wars and more recent conflicts. They sacrificed themselves so that we could enjoy our freedom. The debt we owe to the brave people who protect our country and its way of life is as real today as it ever was. Our thoughts are with those who continue to fight for our freedom and safety throughout the world and who are still prepared to make the ultimate sacrifice in the service of this country or to suffer terrible injuries in its cause.

Last week's Memories photograph, from our archives, showed pupils from Burton End Primary School taking part in a newspaper project. It was taken in August 1988. Geoff Shipp, of North Avenue, Haverhill, had no problem recognising himself and even had the original clipping from the Weekly News. He said: "I asked someone from your paper to come and talk to the children about the job of a reporter. They were doing a topic on newspapers at the time. "I recall that the reporter emphasised that a newspaper story had to be true (tabloids take note) so we designed a survey form to find out about the litter problem in the road around the school. "The stories were printed in the paper the following week, a copy of which I still have in a scrapbook from my teaching days. I was seconded to the school for a term and worked with various classes. "The children in the photograph were, I'm pretty certain, in Kay Poulton's class of 8 and 9 year olds so I guess now they would be about 30, which makes me feel ancient. "It was in those lovely pre-national curriculum days when teachers could do cross-curricular teaching (there was quite a bit of maths in the project too) and at a time when it wasn't deemed necessary to fill out 49 risk assessment forms before you took children outside the school gates!"

Special ceremony: pupils plant the willow tree.

CP

Little Jaguars enjoy a horticultural exchange

YOUNGSTERS at Kedington Primary School had fun planting a new willow tree which was a gift from their partner school in France.

The Jaguars Class planted the willow tree at Risbridge Meadows last Friday with the help of Dave Becks, from Haverhill's East Town Park.

When 22 children from Ecole St-Exupéry Primary School visited Kedington last year, trees were exchanged.

Kedington pupils gave their French friends a horse chestnut sapling, which is now planted in La Courtelle public gardens near their school. Kedington was given a willow sapling.

Children from the class dug the hole for the tree, teased out the roots, planted it with plenty of compost and dug holes for two upturned two litre bottles, which will be filled with water regularly to feed the tree's roots.

The schools, which have been exchanging letters, cards and videos for two years, have also designed garden beds for each other.

The class is also making plans for a French garden.

Club tribute to captain of pool team

MEMBERS of a pool club have paid a moving tribute to their popular captain who died in a drowning tragedy in Spain last week.

Mark Porter, who drowned while on holiday near Salou, was captain of the White Hart A pool team in Haverhill.

Mark, aged 29, and Michelle Clydesdale, aged 24, from Scotland, died after they were hit by freak waves while going for a swim in the early hours of the morning.

Mark was described on the club's website as being "a larger-than-life player in the Haverhill Pool League for many years", and worked as the chef at The Bell pub in Haverhill's High Street.

The online tribute said: "Mark's personality has always been characterised as being sociable, loud and up for a laugh at all times.

"Sincerest condolences go out to Mark's family from all the members of the Haverhill Pool Leagues at this very difficult time.

"Mark always lived for today. May he rest in peace."

A huge Facebook site has been packed with tributes to Mark, who was a big Arsenal fan, and friends are asked to wear football strip to his funeral, which is not expected to take place for at least two weeks.

Tragic loss: Mark Porter, who drowned while on holiday in Spain last week.

Dad speaks of freak tragedy

A FATHER has spoken of his relief that his own son survived a freak drowning accident in Spain which claimed the life of a friend and a 24-year-old woman, as well as sadness for their families.

As reported in last week's Weekly News, Mark Smith, 25, was on holiday in the resort of Salou with pub chef Mark Porter, 29, who drowned. He had been struck by freak waves that threw him on to the rocks while swimming late at night on Wednesday, October 21.

They were on holiday with two other friends Lewis Rice, 24, and Ian Farrant, 32, and the four of them, all from Haverhill, had all been swimming in the sea.

Michelle Clydesdale, 24, who met the Haverhill group just that night, also died in the tragedy.

Bob Smith, an ambulance driver from Haverhill, said his son had returned from Spain physically unscathed, apart from cuts and bruises, but hugely traumatised by the tragedy.

Mr Smith called the Weekly News to thank us for our compassionate coverage of the tragedy.

He said: "It was a completely tragic accident.

"It was just a good night out that ended badly. There were four lads and three girls and they had all been swimming in the sea and Mark was up to his waist in the water.

"The sea was rough, but no rougher than when they had been swimming in the morning.

"My son said his feet were swept out from underneath him and he had taken in a lot of water, but he managed to get his head above the water.

"He could feel the current sucking him under, but saw the shoreline and managed to reach it.

"Since he got home he has been quite fidgety. I think when you are a survivor you always feel guilty – why did he go and not me?

"He did think that he was on his way to drowning, but he managed to cheat death. It is a great relief that he survived, but you feel hugely for the other families involved who did not see their son and daughter coming home.

"The father of Michelle had lost his other daughter in the Dunblane Massacre 13 years ago."

Teenager denies charge of rape

A TEENAGER has appeared in court to deny a charge of rape and will go on trial next February.

Simon Cuthbert, 19, is alleged to have committed the offence at Haverhill on March 22 this year, Ipswich Crown Court heard last Friday.

Cuthbert, of Hollesley Avenue, Haverhill, pleaded not guilty and is due to go on trial on February 8.

Judge John Holt released Cuthbert on bail until his next court appearance.

'Fireworks misery for animal friends'

With Guy Fawkes Day just around the corner, a leading animal charity has pleaded with members of the public not to buy their own fireworks and attend organised events instead in a bid to reduce the terror they say animals are put through as a result of the loud bangs. LAURA JEAN MORRIS reports.

Wood Green Animal Shelters has launched a campaign to stop the "indiscriminate use" of fireworks which it says can make the lives of pets and zoo animals a misery.

The campaign from the charity, which has branches in Huntingdon and Heydon, comes after it carried out a survey of 3,000 people on their views of fireworks.

The surprising results showed that 70 per cent of people felt the existing laws on fireworks should be tightened and a whopping 80 per cent feel that fireworks should be restricted to organised displays only.

Linda Cantel, deputy head of animal welfare at the charity, said: "Our next step, having completed our survey, is to contact other charities, such as Help the Aged, or children's charities, to see if they have members who are concerned about fireworks scaring the elderly or very young.

"It's not that we are killjoys and Big bangs: fireworks season can be a scary time for pets and zoo animals, says Wood Green Animal Shelters and Kim Simmons, below, a director at Linton Zoo.

Picture:

don't want people to enjoy the annual celebrations, it's just that the bangs seem to go on for weeks now, and it's hard to put measures in place to look after animals without knowing when these things are taking place.

"The thing about organised displays is that they are usually well-publicised and in open spaces, so it is possible to make sure pets are inside and kept company.

"The other thing our survey uncovered was that only 21 per cent of people had ever heard of low-noise fireworks, and that 81 per cent said their main enjoyment about the sparkly firecrackers was their visual impact, so we want to try and spread the word that low-noise varieties are a really good alternative."

Kim Simmons, a director of Linton Zoo, said: "We are in agreement with Wood Green's calls to encourage people to only attend organised events where the display doesn't have a huge impact on the environment. So for example, the one on Saffron Walden Common is good.

"Our animals are badly affected by the light flashes and bangs, and at this time of year we are trying to protect the animals as much as we can. It's hard though, as we can't just shut animals like the zebras into their shed as it just doesn't stop the noise.

"And the displays are really dragged out over weeks now.

"We want people to try and stick to well-maintained public displays where it's not enclosed by trees and things like that which could be a wildlife haven."

And Kim has some practical advice for people with pets who find the bonfire season stressful.

She said: "With pets these days there are quite a few products to help, but the best thing to do is to be there with them, locked safely indoors with the curtains shut and a radio or television on to drown out the noise.

"It's a terrible time for a lot of pets. Even things like guinea pigs and rabbits need to be considered and brought inside if possible."

Healthy eating is on menu for children

A NEW initiative to teach primary pupils the importance of healthy eating has been launched.

The Lunchbox Challenge is run by Cambridgeshire County Council's personal, social and health education (PSHE) service with help from the Cambridgeshire Dietetic Business Unit.

All 220 Cambridgeshire primary and special schools are being given a "lunchbox" containing teaching resources and materials.

These include the Top Grub card game, based on the children's game Top Trumps and featuring 33 cards each featuring a different food with nutritional values given.

Diane Fenner, Healthy

Schools co-ordinator, said: "Eating a healthy diet and the importance of introducing children to the nutritional values of different foods has never been more important."

Councillor takes up fight for town

A COUNCILLOR has been given the job of helping Haverhill on its continuing expansion.

Cllr Anne Gower, who represents Haverhill North, has become a new member of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet, after accepting the newly-created portfolio for Haverhill and Housing.

Along with the specific cabinet responsibility for Haverhill and its town centre management, Cllr Gower will also be taking borough-wide responsibility for strategic housing and homelessness, and local responsibility for community development and the Youth Action Plan.

Cllr Karen Richardson, ward member for Haverhill East, will be working with Cllr Gower as assistant portfolio holder.

Cllr Gower said: "I am

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

looking forward to being part of the continuing development of Haverhill and improving the quality of life of its residents, both on the big issues which impact on everyone and on the individual problems that are so important to residents.

"And I am delighted to be working closely with Karen, a lifelong resident of Haverhill and dedicated ward member who will bring her broad experience to the role."

Cllr John Griffiths, the council's leader said: "This is the first time we have a cabinet member specifically for Haverhill issues and Anne, with her passion for the town, will make sure these issues are always at the forefront of our thinking."

"The town is economically dynamic and geographically well-placed for growth, and its talented young people will play a crucial part in the future of the borough. Anne has an excellent track record as a ward councillor and she will be a valuable member of the team."

Cllr Gower moved, with her husband, Ian, to Haverhill from a village nearby eight years ago.

She has been a borough and town councillor for Haverhill North since May 2007 and in June 2009 was elected to Suffolk County Council, representing Haverhill East and Kedington Division.

Her other posts include chair of the Haverhill Partnership Forum and the Haverhill Executive Forum, as well as being on the Management Board of the Haverhill Volunteer Centre and serving on many other committees in the town.

New member: Cllr Anne Gower.

Open events for students

Drive to improve road safety

SOME curious youngsters and adults got a close look at police cars, motor bikes and a fire engine in their town centre as part of a campaign aimed at keeping young drivers safe on the roads.

An event was staged on Haverhill Market Square, similar to Suffolk Police's partnership "Drive and Survive" event for young drivers held in Bury St Edmunds in August.

The police Bike Safe team gave visitors the chance to test their driving skills, with a number of interactive displays and simulators. The Suffolk Road Safety Partnerships also promoted safer driving with activities aimed to educate young people about hazards on the roads.

Guide to help plan visits to NHS

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AROUND 300 buildings providing healthcare in Suffolk are being surveyed for an information pack for people with disabilities.

NHS Suffolk will invest £88,000 to map out and detail the accessibility of doctors' surgeries, opticians, pharmacies, dental practices, community hospitals and the buildings providing mental health services. It includes both Ipswich and West Suffolk hospitals, Suffolk Community Healthcare buildings and out-of-hours bases.

It will result in a comprehensive guide – to be launched next spring – covering each building's disabled parking, toilets, ramps and lifts. It will also tell people if patient information is offered in other formats, such as larger print.

Carole Taylor-Brown, chief executive of NHS Suffolk, said: "The NHS should be accessible to all – and this initiative is vital to making that a reality. We are among the first healthcare systems to choose to make such a comprehensive pack for people with disabilities.

"Not knowing if your doctors' surgery or local optician is easy to get to or whether the doors are wide enough, even, is an extra barrier for people with disabilities to overcome. Knowing these simple details before you arrive for an appointment makes all the difference in how you access healthcare."

Dr Gregory Burke, chief executive of DisabledGo, said: "NHS Suffolk is the first primary care trust in the country to take a fully 'joined-up' approach in this way across all NHS premises in its area. This demonstrates excellent personal leadership from Carole Taylor-Brown, and organisational leadership generally – it's a fantastic move forward."

Follow some simple steps to make shopping online safer

SHOPPING online is a useful way to save money, with bargains galore to be snapped up by thrifty spenders.

But it pays to be cautious. Here the Weekly News is offering advice on buying and selling things safely online.

There are plenty of pitfalls to be avoided when using the internet's most popular shopping website, eBay.

Here millions of users buy and sell both new and second-hand goods, but it is worth keeping an eye out to avoid being scammed by rogue traders.

Buyers should always check on the seller of the item they are interested in. Previous customers will have left ratings and comments on how they found doing business with them, which can prove invaluable in identifying potential trouble ahead.

As part of our partnership with Barclays Money Skills to help readers make the most of their finances, the Weekly News looks at how shoppers can stay safe online. STEPHEN EXLEY reports

It may sound obvious, but read the item description thoroughly – is the dress the right size, or is the digital camera the model that you are looking for?

If you have any doubts, make contact with the seller before committing yourself to a bid – and always check how much is being charged for postage and packaging, which can bump up the cost unexpectedly.

Always make sure you enter your credit card details directly on the website, or use an alternative secure payment method such as PayPal to keep your bank account details safe.

Sellers are advised never to accept cash payment.

As the eBay website explains: "Cash isn't traceable, there is no way to prove payment was or wasn't made and it can get lost or stolen in the post."

While most buyers pay up promptly, sometimes problems can occur if payment is not forthcoming.

eBay provides an online process through which the buyer and seller can communicate with each other to resolve the situation before making an official complaint.

A spokesman for Cambridgeshire County Council's Trading Standards said when buying goods or services on the internet, you should shop around as prices vary online just like in shops.

He added: "Be sure you know who you are dealing with – find the trader's full name, address and other contact details and check them out.

"Don't rely on the telephone number given, try to confirm the details of the business by looking them up independently."

Another thing to look for is that the site is secure: "The url or website address should always start with https:// as the S means that it is secure."

"Secure sites have an encryption facility and you will see a padlock at the bottom of the screen when you are filling in your payment details."

He added you should check sellers' feedback, be aware of all the costs involved and keep records of your orders.

Reserves get a makeover

HARDY volunteers braved atrocious weather last week to help keep one of Cambridgeshire's seven local nature reserves in tip-top condition.

The team of five volunteers, led by Laura Watson of the Wildlife Trust, raked grassland at Isleham local nature reserve to help wildflowers and local wildlife thrive.

Cambridgeshire County Council manages the reserve as well as six others as part of its commitment to protecting and improving the local environment.

The council is always looking out for more volunteers to help at the local reserves, which are at Isleham, Somersham, Swavesey, Kingston, March, Meldreth and Babraham.

The next work party is on Wednesday, January 27, starting at 10am at the Isleham reserve, off Fordham Road.

Sisters are united in a tough fight back from breast cancer

TO see the sisters sitting together – sharing memories over a cup of tea, full of smiles and laughter – it's clear they are very close.

As well as being siblings, Christine Barnes and Julie Hamlet have another strong bond: both are fighting back from breast cancer. It's a battle they have fought, side by side, over five years – and it's a battle they are winning.

"It's definitely brought us closer together," admits Christine, 51. "We've got that shared experience: we both know what it's like to be told 'You've got cancer'... It's shocking and it's frightening and there are a lot of tears.

"I'm not going to say any of this has been a walk in the park. But here we are: we've survived. And we're both really happy."

Just weeks after finishing radiotherapy, Christine took part in the Cambridge Run 10K which raises thousands for the charity Cancer Research UK.

"Both Julie and I feel very strongly about supporting Cancer

BY ALICE RYAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Research UK," she explains. "We want to help them improve treatments and, hopefully, one day find a cure – so future generations, like Julie's daughters, don't have to go through what we've been through."

Cancer first came into Christine and Julie's life more than 20 years ago when their father developed kidney cancer and, aged just 60, died of the disease. "It was very difficult to watch," admits Christine. "And it taught us that having cancer shows you who your friends are. Some people just don't know what to say; some even cross the road to avoid having to talk to you. Others are incredibly supportive."

"Just hearing that one little word – cancer – changes your life," adds Julie. "Once you've heard it, you can't ever forget it."

Christine, who lives in St Ives, was herself diagnosed with breast cancer five years ago. It is the most common form of cancer in the UK: statistics show that one in nine women will develop the disease during their lifetime; around 125 new diagnoses are made each and every day.

In it together: sisters Julie Hamlet and Christine Barnes are both fighting back from breast cancer.

"I'd had breast lumps over the years, ever since I was 20," explains Christine. "And they'd never been anything serious, just benign. Because I had private health cover I went for a check every year and everything was fine."

"Then, in February 2004, I felt an almond-shaped lump right at the top of my breast. I'd only had a mammogram in the October, but nothing had showed up – so I went back to the consultant."

The consultant suspected the lump was again benign, most probably a collapsed cyst. But tests showed it was, in fact, cancer. "It was a huge shock, huge," remembers Christine, with a shudder. "It took quite a long time, for it to sink in."

Further biopsies

showed that the cancer hadn't spread. After a lumpectomy and a course of radiotherapy, Christine was pronounced cancer-free. But, prescribed a five-year course of the anti-cancer drug Tamoxifen, Christine admits the side-effects were, at times, tough to endure: the pills put her straight into menopause so, aged 45, she was suddenly faced with all the symptoms, from hot flushes and sleepless nights to fatigue and mood swings.

"The hardest thing was the mood swings, I think," she says. "I found it quite hard to cope; I got upset easily. And I think the shock of it all turns your head to mush: you can't make a decision about what to have for tea, let alone what to do at work..."

But, determined to regain full health, Christine, who works for the board games company BV Leisure, threw herself into recovery: a fitness fan, she returned to running and also tried alternative therapies.

Then, two years on from Christine's diagnosis, Julie, who lives in Stapleford, noticed a change in her own breasts. "I noticed a discharge from one of my nipples," explains the mum-of-three. "It went on for a couple of weeks and, even though I didn't think it was anything serious, I decided to go to the doctor."

Referred on the NHS, to the breast clinic at Addenbrooke's, Julie underwent tests. "I'll always remember the day I went to get the results," she says. "They kept me waiting for ages, an hour and a half, and I was getting quite irritated!"

"I'd gone on my own; I didn't think I needed anyone with me. Looking back, I think that's why they left me to the end of the clinic. I walked into the room and the consultant wasn't on his own: there was a breast surgeon in there and a nurse holding a red folder – even now, when I see a nurse with a red folder, I think someone must be getting bad news..."

Supporting each other: cancer has brought Julie and Christine closer together.

"They told me they had found a tumour. And I was totally, totally shocked. It might sound odd, because of Christine, but it just hadn't entered my head."

The cancer had spread into the lymph glands under Julie's arm; doctors told her she would need a full mastectomy, six months of chemo and then radiotherapy. And then Julie had to break the news to her partner, her three grown-up kids and, of course, Christine.

Opting to have an immediate breast reconstruction, using a piece of muscle from her back, Julie says she recovered well from the surgery. But she admits chemotherapy was pretty gruelling. "Someone came to sit with me every time I went for chemo," she says. "Sometimes that person was Christine. The first time I went I was in tears; I was just so frightened. It just got to me. I remember sitting in front of the TV that night, waiting to be sick – until I was sick."

But, thanks to anti-sickness pills, her own determination, and plenty of support from family and friends, Julie says the rest of the treatment "wasn't so bad", though losing her hair was, she admits, a real wrench.

As Julie began to recover, Christine was nearing the end of her five years on Tamoxifen. "I went for my five-year check in March this year," she explains. "That's the last one, the one where you expect them to say 'Okay, you're fine, you don't need to come back'. And that's when they told me 'Sorry, you've got cancer in your other breast'."

"I'd always felt there was some unfinished business, because I'd got away so lightly before. But this wasn't the original cancer coming back, it was a totally different cancer: I think I was just as shocked then as I had been first time around."

This time Christine was told she too needed a mastectomy; because of her medical history, surgeons recommended having both breasts removed. "I didn't even hesitate," she says. "I'd already had five years of worrying 'Will it come back or won't it?', I didn't want to have to worry any more."

In April, Christine underwent a 14-hour operation: a double mastectomy and a double reconstruction, using a flap of tissue from her tummy. "It was frightening. I think because the operation was so long," she says. "And you have no real idea what you're going to look like when you wake up."

After the op, Christine was given more radiotherapy. Although her breast wounds healed well, her tummy took longer to repair – which made training for the Cambridge 10K even harder. "I took up running just before I was first diagnosed and I have done several sponsored runs before, including the London Marathon which was amazing," adds Christine.

Aiming to raise as much cash as possible for Cancer Research UK, Christine says it is a vital cause. "We're proof that treatments have come a long way," she explains. "Even in the five years since I was diagnosed I've seen things move on."

Both Christine and Julie had oestrogen-sensitive cancers and, as a result, both opted to have their ovaries (the source of oestrogen, the female hormone) removed. Julie has decided, again like her sister, to have a second mastectomy "so I don't have to worry any more". And they are awaiting the results of genetic testing.

Now in remission, the sisters say they are both feeling happy and healthy. Julie, who had to quit her civil service job in the wake of her diagnosis, now works part-time for Christine at BV Leisure; the two see more of each other these days than ever before.

"As I said, it hasn't been a walk in the park," adds Christine. "But we've supported each other and always tried to stay positive: I think that's really important. And I would say the experience has changed us both. It's made me a more patient person, I think, and certainly more compassionate."

"It's definitely changed me," adds Julie, with a smile. "I'm more confident and out-going: when you've been through something like this you care less about what other people think."

Stopping to make a fuss of Maggie, the black Labrador Julie bought on finishing treatment, the sisters say they are both looking to the future.

"As Christine said, you have to try to stay positive," concludes Julie. "We've been through quite a lot, yes, but at the end of the day we've now got our lives back. And we feel so grateful for that."

Patients can now visit virtual surgery

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A SURGERY has launched a colourful new website which lets patients make appointments online and keep in touch with the practice to help them stay well.

Dr Paul Stephenson and practice manager Marian McLean at the Christmas Maltings and Clements surgeries in Haverhill, want to let patients know about the new website and other ways of communicating with patients, which have been provided with funding from the local PCT.

The site also gives details of extended opening hours and the new automated telephone booking system. Patients are asked to provide up-to-date contact details so that they receive the information.

Cambridge company Realnet was commissioned to create the website, which will allow patients to visit a virtual surgery, to receive emails about new and existing services, plus invitations to clinics and health checks, and to receive answers to non-urgent questions via email.

Mrs McLean said a mailshot was going out to tell all 17,500 patients of the practice about the website and other options such as text message reminders of appointments and new information screens in the surgeries.

She said: "We formed a group of various members of staff to look at how we could take the practice forward and it was unanimously felt that we should have more input from the patients. We want patients who are well to be able to communicate with us, not just when they are ill."

Dr Stephenson said: "We hope patients will use the website and give us some feedback on what they think of it."

"We think it may be a useful way for young people to communicate with us and we are offering young people's check-ups."

Looking back proves a problem

DIGGING up a time capsule proved to be easier said than done when three different places were suggested for where it had been buried.

Drama teacher Steve Powter, a former pupil at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, was tasked with the job of supervising the unearthing of the capsule, buried 35 years ago, as part of celebrations for the 50th anniversary of the school.

It is planned to see what is in the capsule, before burying it again, along with a new one.

Mr Powter said: "We will put the things in it on display then the students will decide what goes into the new one."

"Although 35 years is not a really long time, a lot has changed during that time. Now you can buy a calculator for 50p, but at that time the cost would have been out of the reach of many students."

"We would love to hear from anyone who was at the school at the time the capsule was buried and who remembers why things were included."

"It was not an easy thing to do, because three people I have spoken to who were here when it was buried have all told me different locations for where it was buried."

"I have already gone down about two metres in one and there is no sign of it yet. When it is reburied, we will make sure we leave clear instructions about exactly where it is."

Elvis lives!: above, Lee Mayers and Lauren Chinery took the lead roles in All Shook Up. Right, the cast with the new microphones which helped them belt out the numbers.

Young cast get all shook up for stellar, toe-tapping show

FROM blockbuster films to stage musicals, I have always had a problem with 30-somethings playing the roles of fresh-faced teenagers.

So it was a real treat to find a show with a cast of 70 kids who really are kids, even though their performing talents defy their tender years.

Whether Elvis actually was abducted by aliens, living under an alias in Brazil, or just plain dead, there cannot be much left unsaid or written about him. His songs have been kindly covered by some and ruined by more, so is there really any point in a show featuring his music?

In the hands of the versatile Centre Stage company, the answer is a resounding yes.

A clever weaving of the plot

REVIEW BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

of All Shook Up around the songs of the Elvis, apparently based on Shakespeare's Twelfth Night, made for a foot-tapping evening of entertainment.

A fine cast of young players showed huge versatility, with tender moments, expert comic timing, fine singing, with endless energy and enthusiasm. Not every note was perfect but the overall effect was hugely entertaining.

Lee Mayes gave Elvis-style hip-swinging a new impish quality and Lauren Chinery was masterful in voice and action as the female lead.

Tom Bailey stole the show as love-sick nerd Dennis, his timing faultless, coupled with great empathy with his audience and a stunning singing voice. He should go far with his ambition to become an actor in future.

Supporting roles from John Chandler, Megan Brewster, Catherine Darkins and Alex Davison added to the rich tapestry the sell-out audiences have come to expect from this group.

Amy Letcher can be proud of her directorial debut and Karen Chinery's musical direction made sure that the wealth of young talent on show was fully utilised. Newly acquired microphones also made sure that it is no longer necessary to shout to be heard on the Haverhill Arts Centre stage, I left with my ears ringing.

£80k pledge bid to fight turbines

RESIDENTS in Linton and Great Chesterford have pledged to raise an £80,000 fighting fund to stop plans for a windfarm between the villages.

Stop Linton Wind Farm is asking members of the public to back its fight against renewable energy firm Enertrag's plans for the eight turbines, which will be the focus of a public inquiry set to begin in February.

A decision on the planning application is expected to be made sometime in March.

A spokesman for the group said: "There are some very serious issues to be discussed at the inquiry and we are putting together the fund in a bid to make sure we can pay for the fight that could entail."

"We already have around £18,000

BY LAURA JEAN MORRIS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

committed to the fund but are looking for about £60,000 to £80,000 in total."

Plans for the eight 125-metre high wind turbines were submitted to both Uttlesford and South Cambridgeshire district councils earlier this year. Uttlesford rejected a proposal for one of the turbine within its boundary, but SCDC failed to make an adjudication on the other seven within its borders in the allocated time frame.

That meant Enertrag was able to push the decision into a planning inquiry process.

More than 1,100 letters were sent to Uttlesford District Council in relation to the planning application, with just 17 in favour of the plans.

The Stop Linton Wind Farm

spokesman said: "We are concerned with several aspects of the plan, from the visual impact it would have on a village of architectural significance to the noise and health concerns with a special school far too close to the proposed site."

"Also, there were serious safety concerns raised by the air traffic control people in relation to radar for planes going to and from Luton and Stansted. In fact, a whole week of the four-week inquiry is set to be spent discussing just that."

"And that's not to mention the affect that such a scheme would have on the rare breeds programme at Linton Zoo, which is cutting edge and would undoubtedly be badly affected."

For more information on the Stop Linton Wind farm Group visit www.stoplintonwindfarm.org.uk

Enertrag was unavailable for comment.

Just 'tweet' as school dinner menus go online

PARENTS of youngsters will be told what's on the school lunch menu for the following day via social networking site Twitter.

Suffolk County Council will "tweet" primary school menus after half-term as a convenient way of helping families decide whether to buy school dinners.

The council used to print up to 50,000 menus for children to take home, but now parents will be able to stay informed by registering for a free Twitter account.

Schools in Haverhill areas will be among those included in the new system.

Chris Denny, for Suffolk

County Catering, said: "We've found that many parents and carers like to know what is going to be on the menu."

After registering on Twitter, follow www.twitter.com/suffolkcc.

Shon's Hugh finds life in tragic death

Fifteen years ago Hoipolloi Theatre consisted of just one man and his van, journeying around the country pedalling his plays to regional theatres, with his wife in tow, designing sets.

It was an exciting, enlightening time as Shon Dale-Jones and wife Stefanie Müller, who had met and fallen in love at international theatre school in Paris, forged ahead with their very own Cambridge-based theatre company.

"There was so much excitement and passion around the idea of making our own work in those early days," recalls Shon wistfully. "Even though we had just had our daughter Josie, it didn't feel scary in the way that it might feel now, as we hadn't experienced life yet. When we look back we think 'my god, 15 years ago, we really had no money', and through some kind of guerrilla tactic we managed to make work, hire a van and chuck sets into the back and travel around the UK to find theatres prepared to give us their stage to put our work on."

Fast forward 15 years to 2009 and Hoipolloi has made its name on the world stage, having created 17 new shows, toured extensively throughout the UK and the world.

Louise Cummings steps into the weird and wonderful world of Hugh Hughes as she chats to his creator Shon Dale-Jones, founder of Hoipolloi Theatre in Cambridge

And the accolades just keep flying in with Hoipolloi receiving three Total Theatre Award nominations; a nomination for Best Actor from The Stage Awards, as well as winning a Total Theatre Award for the show Floating (2006) and a Scotsman Fringe First award for the show Story of a Rabbit (2007).

"Over the last five years we've become a fully functional theatre business, making work in TV and radio and film as well as theatre. Now it feels like we have stability," Shon muses.

"This year in particular was lovely for us as we had five shows on three different continents, and put two shows on stage at Edinburgh and the responses were fantastic," he adds.

"When we were in Edinburgh this year we were able to sit and reflect on the 15 years with all our friends, it was definitely one of those moments when you say 'this has been worthwhile'. It's been a great journey and a lot of fun!"

For anyone unaccustomed to the work of Hoipolloi, the plays revolve around the character Hugh Hughes, a lovable emerging Welsh artist from Anglesey, played by Shon himself. "He is a comic creation, but a lot of the work I have been doing with him is kind of autobiographical. He's incredibly earnest and sincere and very generous but he's like a wise fool in a way – he tries to make sense of things through big philosophical statements."

Though Shon is the only actor on stage (with musical accompaniment), the plays manage to captivate the audience, as the stories are fabulously imaginative, interwoven with fantasy and fairytale, featuring a variety of multimedia, from photography and film to video and Powerpoint presentations!

One of Hoipolloi's most celebrated shows is the imaginative and comic tale Floating, (2006), which transports Shon back to Anglesey in North Wales – where he grew up. Explaining his inspiration of the piece, he says: "I always thought when I was a child that there was an article on April Fools Day which said that the island of Anglesey was floating away into the North Sea and if you had ropes you should run down to the coast and try to stop the island floating away!"

Shon's latest work, Story of A Rabbit, which went down a storm at the Edinburgh Festival, comes to Cambridge Arts Theatre from November 4-5. The death of Shon's beloved father was the inspiration for the touching and life-affirming show, and Shon switches between the story of his father's death and the death of a neighbour's rabbit in his care, weaving in elements of fantasy.

"It's a really moving show that tackles the theme of death, and I think the appeal of it is that it finds a way of dealing with it in a very uplifting, heart-warming manner," he explains. "I think that's because it comes from a very genuine place and grapples with the subject of loss in a way that tries to make it as beautiful as possible – that understanding that life is incredibly fragile and we are only here one minute and gone the next."

The show has been so successful Hoipolloi have had bookings well into 2011 at Sydney Opera House, a month-long residency booked at the Barbican and plans to work with the National

Pitcher perfect way to capture town's spirit

EVERY comic will tell you that a 'funny thing happened on the way to the gig', but thanks to his digital camera, Al Pitcher has the pictures to prove it. Al's material for the show at the Haverhill Arts Centre on Saturday will be based on his day in Haverhill. He'll spend time learning about the town and taking pictures.

Find out what Al makes of Haverhill at The Al Pitcher Picture Show, which begins at 8pm. Tickets are £10.

■ Hear Queen's greatest hits live including Bohemian Rhapsody, We Are The Champions and all the other timeless anthems on Sunday at 8pm when Magic – A Kind of Queen visits the centre. Magic do not attempt to portray Queen visually, but instead allow their superb musicianship and outstanding harmonies to recreate a masterful sound-alike of the iconic rockers. Tickets are £15.

■ The guest demonstrators for the Haverhill and District Flower Club on Monday are Margaret Caton and Jane Knight with their theme 'Celebrations'. A raffle will be held and the fun starts at 7.30pm.

■ Brendan Shine, one of the biggest stars Ireland has ever produced, brings his band – the Brendan Shine Super Band – to the arts centre on Friday, November 6. The concert starts at 8pm and tickets are £18.50.

■ Meryl Streep continues to show her lighter side as Julia Child in Julia & Julia (12A), showing on Monday at 1.30pm, and Wednesday and Thursday at 7.45pm. Julia is an American living in Paris whose seminal cookbook 'Mastering the Art of French Cooking' brought French cuisine to the American housewife in the early 1960s. Forty years later, Julie, a frustrated secretary, embarks on a mission to cook all 524 recipes in just 365 days. Tickets £3.50-£5.

Classical duo return for lunchtime gig

AUSTRIAN musical duo Florian Kitt and Rita Medjimorec (pictured left) return to Cambridge this week to play a free lunchtime concert at Anglia Ruskin University. It will feature Märchenbilder, Op. 113 by Schumann, Prokofiev's Cello Sonata plus a new work, Out of the Depths Comes Song, composed by Anthony Payne.

Kitt (cello) is one of the best exponents of the contemporary cello repertoire. He has appeared as soloist with many leading orchestras and conductors and made numerous recordings. Medjimorec (piano) graduated from the Hochschule Mozarteum in Salzburg, and now holds the post of accompanist for the University for Music in Vienna.

Dream comes true for Dancing Dixon

BY LOUISE CUMMINGS

GROWING up, Alesha Dixon had the same recurring dream. Like most youngsters with stars in their eyes she dreamt of becoming a popstar, singing to an adoring crowd of fans.

"Every night I'd go to bed and dream of being on stage or singing," she says. "I thought that if I dreamt it enough times I'd make it happen – and I think that somehow I ended up manifesting it. They do say if you visualise yourself doing something, and put out the right energy, then you can make it happen."

It's certainly this fearless female's positive attitude and steely determination which has seen her survive an emotional rollercoaster, from the success of her days in the trailblazing girl band Mis-Teeq, through her marriage break-up with cheating husband So Solid Crew's Harvey, to bring dropped by her record label. But in true star style she has picked herself up, dusted herself off and more than made a comeback after cha cha cha-ing to the finals of Strictly Come Dancing then waltzing off with the glittering first prize, launching a platinum selling comeback album The Alesha Show, tackling one of the world's most arduous mountains, helping raise millions for Comic Relief and now taking a seat on the Strictly judging panel.

"I'm so determined in things I do that if I put my mind to something I won't quit. Like when I lost my record deal, to me that wasn't the end of my career. I thought ok, you've had a hurdle, get on with it, correct it, make it work, make it better and therefore I just pick myself up and carry on.

"I've always known I was very lucky to be doing something that I enjoy so I do appreciate my job. Life is too short so you have to do things that make you happy."

She is seemingly still stunned by the success of her comeback, since signing a new record deal with Xenomania (the production outfit behind Girls Aloud) she has seen her album The Alesha Show go platinum.

Going it alone was quite a daunting prospect for the glamorous singer from Welwyn Garden City, having experienced success so young playing to millions worldwide in the sassy R&B band Mis-Teeq.

"I can't tell you how good it was to be performing around the world with Mis-Teeq. I'm proud of what we did and when I do my live shows I always do a Mis-Teeq medley. It brings it all back to when I was a young fearless 20something girl just having the best time of my life!" she giggles.

At 31 she appears to be no less fearless having recently scaled Kilimanjaro for Comic Relief along with a group of celebrities handpicked by Take That star Gary Barlow including Radio 1 DJ Chris Moyles and Girls Aloud singers Cheryl and Kimberley.

Proud of the achievement, she is none-the-less brutally honest about just what a challenge it was. "I can't lie to anyone when they ask me about it, I have to tell you the honest truth, it was hell! The most fun part was everybody who was there; the African porters, the crew – they made it fun, but the actual mountain itself was hell. The altitude was the biggest problem for me because it affects your emotions. I get nightmares just talking about it", she says, slightly exasperated.

Alesha is now on her first solo tour and will stop by the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Monday, and hopes it goes better than her first solo concert in Wolverhampton.

"I was really nervous before I went on, I mean I had no saliva left in my mouth I was so nervous and it affected my voice. But on my second night in Norwich it was brilliant because I'd got the first one out of the way and could really enjoy it. To see the crowd singing my song and be able to hold my microphone out to the audience and hear them, I was absolutely blown away and I came off the stage buzzing."

The perfect time to plant your tulip bulbs

A decade ago, Anna Pavord's book The Tulip set a benchmark for biographies of the popular bulb, and the celebrated gardening writer has included the flower again in another informative and beautifully-photographed tome, simply titled Bulb.

Pavord, who sits on the parks and gardens panel of English Heritage, has been growing tulips for 40 years and grows around 20 new types each year.

"One thing that strikes me is how brilliant the wild tulips are, and they are increasingly available through bulb companies and garden centres. Wild types are much smaller than we are used to, and are not only supremely beautiful but are much more likely to stay than other types."

While daffodils are best planted in early autumn, tulips suit late October or early November.

"The two things tulips need to thrive are perfect drainage and to be baked in the summer sun," Pavord explains.

By growing tulips in pots you can adjust the drainage, making sure containers have drainage holes at the base, a layer of crocks at the bottom and a fast-draining potting mix such as John Innes No 3 mixed with a handful of gravel or grit.

"Do not use composts made with peat," Pavord advises. "Tulips like alkaline conditions, not acid ones."

However, in the UK you can't

by Hannah Stephenson

provide the summer baking which prompts new flower buds to form deep in the hearts of the bulbs, which is why many tulips don't flower as well in subsequent years as they do in their first.

The wild varieties tend to be able to put up with lesser conditions than other types, Pavord observes.

"By choosing carefully, you can have tulips in bloom outside from February until early June. In a mixed bed or border, you can use tall tulips towards the back of a scheme or at the centre of an island bed, with shorter tulips growing towards the front of the border," she says.

Pavord loves her tulips in pots. Again, different heights should be taken into consideration and, as a rule, the tulip should be around the same height as the pot is deep.

"Set three pots in a group together," she says, "two pots packed full of medium-height tulips arranged in front of the one filled with taller types. This triangular grouping fits well into a corner, made perhaps where your house wraps around a terrace."

"In a scree, or some other gravel-covered area, low-growing tulips look best."

As a rule, tulips should be planted three times deeper than the height of the bulb itself, although gardeners whose soil is heavy or clay may plant more shallowly than those with fast-draining, sandy soil.

Containers should be watered well after planting, and then left until they have almost dried out before watering again. When the tulips are in active growth they'll need a steady supply of moisture, but don't waterlog them or the bulbs will rot.

Among Pavord's favourites are Tulipa orphanidea, a species growing to 21cm with pointed petals, in shades of yellow, orange or red.

"It's quite short and good for exposed areas, and the colours go from lemon sherbet to soft apricots and oranges. They look good in pots."

She also favours T. linifolia Batalinii Group, an early variety in yellows or oranges which should be grown on their own in pots – nothing should be allowed to overshadow their splendour – or in the ground mixed with wallflowers. These tulips should return each year and increase to make a rich mat.

Pavord also loves lily-flowered tulips such as 'White Triumphator' mixed with forget-me-nots, and 'Ballerina', an elegant tulip in sunset shades of orange and red which is also sweetly scented with the subtle aroma of primroses.

Of course, no tulip lover could go without their gaudy, gregarious parrot varieties in all their frilly glory and dazzling colours.

"I love 'Orange Favourite', a zinging orange which is interestingly marked and has scented flowers," Pavord enthuses.

While tulips undoubtedly look great in pots as stand-alone specimens, they also have some ideal plant partners. "In borders you need at least 25 bulbs, and thread them through the area with hostas, wild geraniums and bronze fennel."

■ Bulb by Anna Pavord is published by Mitchell Beazley, priced £30. Available now.

BEST OF THE BUNCH – Callicarpa Bodinieri 'Profusion'

We see loads of shrubs adorned with red and orange berries at this time of year, but not many with the bright purple beads produced by this striking deciduous shrub, better known as the beauty berry, which grows to around 3m.

The young foliage is often bronze-purple, becoming dark green in summer before turning golden purple in autumn. It produces pale pink flowers in midsummer, but is generally grown for its colourful fruit and clusters of shining, bright-purple berries which are retained on the bare branches after leaf fall.

This shrub can be grown in full sun or light, dappled shade, in well-drained, fertile soil. Planting in groups will maximise fruiting. Plants tolerate a little lime in the soil, but conditions which are too alkaline will cause leaf yellowing.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.
- ☐ Store cards and accounts.
- ☐ Other lease, hire or rental companies.
- ☐ Employer.
- ☐ Doctor.
- ☐ Dentist.
- ☐ Schools.
- ☐ Professional Bodies/Trade Unions.
- ☐ Motoring organisations.
- ☐ Newsagent.
- ☐ Friends and relatives.

The case for the Defender

IT may be cursed by some as being a member of the 'Chelsea tractor' family but the 4x4 Land Rover Defender has won a top vehicle award.

Readers of What Car? magazine voted the Defender their favourite car.

What Car? group editor Steve Fowler said: "The Land Rover Defender has bags of ability and does exactly what it's designed to do perfectly.

"Together with its no-nonsense approach and strong durability, the Defender is putting a big smile on owners' faces."

In contrast, the Ford Focus Coupe-Cabriolet was voted the least popular car.

Readers made the Fiat 500 the top supermini, while the Jaguar XJ was the best executive and luxury car and the Ford Mondeo the top estate car.

The Audi A5 was rated the best coupe, the Skoda Octavia

The Ford Focus Coupe-Cabriolet: Not among the most popular motors.

'Chelsea Tractor' wins favourite car award from 'What Car?' magazine

the best small family car and the Mazda MX-5 the best open top.

Top performance car was the Porsche 911, while the Mercedes-Benz C-Class topped the family and compact executive category and the Ford C-Max was the best MPV (multi-purpose vehicle).

The Citroen C3 was the last-placed supermini. The Volvo S40 was the least-popular small family car and the Volkswagen Passat came bottom in the family and compact executive category.

The top 10 cars in the What Car? readers' awards are:

1. Land Rover Defender 500
2. Fiat 500
3. Mazda MX-5
4. Porsche 911
5. Audi A5
6. Jaguar XJ Series
7. Peugeot 407
8. Porsche Cayman
9. Daihatsu Copen
10. Skoda Octavia

And these were at the bottom, starting with the least popular first:

1. Ford Focus CC
2. Peugeot 807
3. Nissan Navara
4. Vauxhall Zafira
5. Citroen C3
6. Chevrolet Matiz
7. Perodua Kelisa
8. Chevrolet Lacetti
9. Peugeot 407

Scrappage deals are lowering CO₂

THE scrappage incentive scheme is having a positive impact in reducing average CO₂ with more than 70 per cent of all new registrations under the scheme being smaller, more fuel efficient models, according to data published by The Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT).

The SMMT regularly publishes scrappage incentive registration figures and has collated further data to provide more detail on vehicles bought through the scheme.

New cars registered through the scheme had an average CO₂ value of 132.1g/km. This was 10.9% below the average of all new cars registered between May and September, of 148.2g/km, and 27.4% below the average CO₂ of the scrapped car. The average CO₂ emissions of old cars scrapped through the scheme is estimated to be 181.9g/km.

Benefits: Scrappage-friendly cars like the Hyundai i10, pictured, have low CO₂ output.

Order Mégane Renaultsport 250 now

Ace: The Renault Mégane Renaultsport 250.

THE new Mégane Renaultsport 250 is now available to order for £22,995, powered by a 2.0-litre, 250bhp turbo-charged engine and with the choice of a standard sport chassis model, or a track-focused Cup chassis model that will cost £1,000 less.

Renault hasn't yet revealed performance data, but it does come with one useful bit of kit – an on-board monitor keeps the driver apprised at all times of full engine data, including g-force stresses!

Why the classic car market has come of age this year

IT'S been a tough year for new-car sales – but business has been booming on the classic motors scene.

A well-preserved classic car has proved a better investment than money in the bank in these troubled times, and top-notch examples have increased massively in value.

"A well-restored and maintained classic isn't a risky purchase in terms of depreciation, and it's a lot more fun and far better looking than a bank statement!" says Andy Rouse, manager of the upcoming 2009 Classic Motor Show.

The event, being held at the Birmingham NEC from November 13-15, is the place to start looking for a classic. There will be hundreds of traders present, and Rouse says experts will happily pass on their knowledge to anyone new to the nostalgia-motoring scene.

But many people simply like to turn up and browse, or take in the authentic settings that enthusiasts stage around their cherished wheels – as evidenced by the surge in visitor numbers over the last two years.

The November 2008 event saw a 9 per cent increase in the gate, and dealers sold more than 20 classic cars as the banking crisis began to gather pace.

For 2009, the old-timer British luxury saloons out in force will draw the crowds – these are the more sedate, V8-engined cousins of America's raw-muscle cars.

On display will be a Humber Imperial – specially fitted with a V8 for then-company chairman Lord Rootes – which is undergoing a full restoration, alongside a 4.5-litre V8 Daimler Majestic Major, for many years seen as the undisputed premium British muscle saloon.

It's now 50 years since Daimler unveiled its legendary V8, which also came in 2.5-litre guise for the Jaguar Mark 2 250.

There will also be examples of the Rover P5B – which in 1967 was given a power hike from 3.0 litres to 3.5 litres when the V8 was added to the range. But, as enthusiasts will point out, unlike the all-British Daimler V8, the Rover engine was bought from US car maker Buick.

These V8s will be just one attraction in the six halls of the NEC, which will be filled with more than 1,200 cars and 250 motorcycles from all over the world.

And with premium classics increasing in value, this has meant a knock-on effect for other, newer cars as more people search for wheels that they can afford.

So look out for a massive increase in retro-car entries, with Peugeot 304s, Lotus Carltons, Toyota MR2s and 1970s fast Fords, such as Mark I Escort Mexicos, RS1600s and classic Capris, all vying for attention.

For more information on the 2009 Classic Car show go to www.necclassicismotorshow.com.

Adult ticket prices range from £16-£23 depending on the day, but they're cheaper if pre-booked.

A must: The Classic Motor Show is on next month.

Used small hatches are hard to better

FOR economical and flexible motoring at a reasonable price, used small hatchbacks are hard to beat.

And, says one leading UK motor auction house, a realistic budget of between £1,500 and £3,500 will buy a small hatchback that isn't too old and hasn't travelled too far.

The most popular examples on the second-hand motor market are the Ford Fiesta, Peugeot 206 and Vauxhall Corsa, according to Manheim Auctions, which says all three are well-built, reliable vehicles that are still in plentiful supply.

Recent Manheim sales have seen several hundred Fiestas, 206s and Corsas go under the hammer, with real bargains among that sizeable number.

Craig Mailey, client services director at Manheim, says petrol examples include a seven-year-old Fiesta 1.25 Freestyle five-door with 34,300 miles on the clock which sold for £1,450, and a seven-year-old 206 1.6 XSi three-door with 77,500 recorded miles that sold for £1,825.

Diesel examples include a five-year-old 206 1.4 HDi three-door with 47,000 miles under its belt which sold for £2,850, and a three-year-old Corsa 1.3 CDTi Design five-door with 54,000 miles on the clock that realised £3,490.

"Small hatchbacks have always been a favourite at auction, and while prices have been stronger this year as people try to buy more economical cars during the recession, there are still bargains out there if you are looking for reliable, low-cost motoring," Mailey adds.

"More and more private buyers are realising that an auction can offer plenty of vehicles at trade prices in a friendly environment – with someone always on hand to help."

Meanwhile, the Mazda MX-5, which is 20 years old this year, has been singled out for praise by Used Car Expert magazine.

"The Mazda attaining this milestone means we can all afford one," says editor Matt Tumbridge.

"Early examples are now available for around £1,000, which makes them an exciting alternative to a Fiesta for young enthusiasts.

"What all models, old and new, have in common is a sense of freedom – treat yourself and join the party."

Tumbridge highlights three examples:

■ 1989-1997: "A breath of fresh air in the stale motoring 90s, this MX-5 is a purist's car, with chipper styling and no-nonsense handling," he states.

Used Car Expert's price pick is the 1.8, which has more guts than a 1.6. It says 1995 cars sell for around £2,000.

■ 1997-2005: "Optional six-speed gearboxes became available around this time, and options on the Mk1 became standard on the Mk2, while the 1.6 engine was dropped," says Tumbridge.

Used Car Expert's price pick is a 2003 1.8 which, with average mileage of 45,000, will cost between £5,100-£6,400.

■ 2005-now: "Chunkier in style, it is an absolute hoot on any road that bends. The 2.0 is an even better all-rounder," Tumbridge declares.

Used Car Expert's price pick is a 2006 2.0 Sport which, just out of warranty and with mileage around 24,000, costs £9,000-£11,000.

Popular: The Peugeot 206 is one of the best-selling used cars around.

General Manager - Timber Products

The Ridgeon Group currently has an opportunity for a General Manager for our Forest Products division based near Bury St Edmunds. Reporting to the Group Operations Director, the role will have full P&L responsibility for this major business which boasts some of the most advanced timber manufacturing facilities in Europe.

The role encompasses:

- Leadership and direction of a skilled and experienced team, enabling the business to achieve its full potential
- Development and implementation of a sales and marketing strategy to effectively address new and existing markets
- Ongoing review of end-to-end processes from sourcing, importation and manufacturing through to distribution
- Supporting the Ridgeons Merchant branches with first rate stock availability and service

The successful candidate will be an experienced general manager ideally with an understanding of the timber market, timber engineering and manufacturing processes. A natural leader and financially literate, you will have a demonstrable track record of delivering change in a complex manufacturing environment whilst developing the team around you.

If you feel you are able to lead us in our drive to become FIRST CHOICE for timber products in East Anglia and would like to be considered for the role, please forward a copy of your cv together with a covering letter, outlining your suitability for the role, to

e-mail (chris.greaves@ridgeons.co.uk) or by post to Chris Greaves, Ridgeon Group Ltd., Cromwell Road, Cambridge, CB1 3YB.

Fundraising Team Assistant

Full time

Are you good at helping everyone?

Our new position will report to the Director of Fundraising and will support the fundraising team members with: data logging on Progress database, writing Thank You notes, helping with promotional stands and events, updating marketing information, organising and sending out materials for our campaigns, keeping marketing materials well stocked and in order, searching the internet and making phone calls to suppliers.

It is a varied post and the candidate must be able to multitask and work with a number of different personalities within the team.

We expect the individual to be organised and service-friendly, and possess computer skills with all Office applications at a minimum. There will occasionally be requirements for working an evening or weekends to help during events or campaigns. We work on a flexible hours policy in agreement with the line manager.

Right salary for the right person.

Submit your CV to: Kathie Neal, Director of Fundraising, SOS Children, 59 St. Andrew's Street, Cambridge CB2 3BZ, kathie@soschildren.org
Closing date: 16 November.

Lay Trustee Appointment

Ref: E9740C

The Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust has an income of approximately £6.6m p.a and holds charitable assets worth £19m on behalf of the Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust. The charity has an established track record in fundraising but has ambitious plans for a major capital campaign in support of significant developments on the hospital campus.

The Trustees are fully independent of the management of the hospitals, are accountable to the Charity Commission and are appointed by the Appointments Commission on behalf of the Secretary of State for Health under the provisions of Section 51 of the National Health Service Act 2006.

A vacancy has occurred on the Trustee Body and we are therefore seeking to recruit, from within the community served by the hospital, an outstanding individual who wishes to make a significant contribution to the development of our charitable funds.

Candidates will need to have considerable experience and proven ability in areas such as the public sector, business, the professions, successful fundraising, banking and/or investment management.

Trustees are appointed for an initial term of up to four years with the opportunity for a further term. They must be prepared to devote sufficient time to the charity, which would normally be between 6 and 12 days per year. Trustees are not remunerated although reasonable out of pocket expenses may be reimbursed. Applicants must be over 18, and must not be current employees of the NHS.

Informal enquiries may be directed to Keith Day, Charity Chief Executive on 01223 256099.

Information pack and application forms are available from the Appointments Commission on 0870 240 3802, or from www.appointments.org.uk quoting reference E9740C.

Closing date for the return of applications is 12 noon on 17th November 2009.

Interviews for this post will be held in Cambridge during week commencing 7th December 2009.

Registered Charity No 1048868.

We value and promote diversity and are committed to equality of opportunity for all and appointments made on merit. We believe that the best boards are those that reflect the communities they serve. We particularly want to hear from women and people from black and minority ethnic communities who are able to make a real contribution to this organisation.

HUNDREDS OF NEW VACANCIES EVERY WEEK

>> Football: Colts league round-up

Thurlow 9Chatteris Town 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12F DANNY Passmore scored five times as Thurlow went on the rampage.

His first goal came after just a minute and by half time the home side were 8-0 ahead and coasting.

Further goals came from Jordan Grandinetti (2), Daniel Marsh, and Conor Rankin, although Conor Mageem hit the bar and calls for a penalty fell on deaf ears when Passmore looked to have been fouled.

West Wrattling 4 Ramsey 6

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14 WEST Wrattling's injury-hit squad were left disappointed after allowing a promising position against the league leaders to slip from their grasp.

After withstanding early pressure where their siege mentality was inspired by Jack Child, they broke and Tom Pinker fired in the first goal of his hat-trick.

He doubled the lead soon after but mistakes at the back allowed Ramsey to equalise. However, Child put Wrattling ahead only for Ramsey to level again just before half time. Tom Warnock and Scott Hayes set up Pinker for his third goal, but the home side were unable to build on their advantage despite some good chances and a good shout for a penalty.

Although a draw looked a likely result, Ramsey cranked up the pressure and stretched clear.

Newmarket Town B 4West Wrattling 3

Cambridge and District Colts League, Under-12D A GOAL in the dying seconds denied West Wrattling a point. They had made a good start, Ellis Wiffen and Jesse Luff scoring rapid goals to give the visitors the upper-hand.

However, the home side's more direct approach earned them a foothold in the game before Charlie Ripp struck to make it 3-1.

Passmore hits more to spark Thurlow spree

Even after Town pulled another goal back, Wrattling still had their chances and the pivotal moment of the game came when Luff's shot was turned on to a post.

A minute later it was 3-3 and Wrattling's hopes of a draw were dashed in the final minute mix-up.

Withersfield Youth 2Arbury 3

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13A WITHERSFIELD made a lightning start against the division's leaders, going 2-0 up in the opening minutes.

The pick of the two was a thunderous drive from Will Gardner, but by the end of the first-half the physically-imposing Arbury side were 3-2 ahead.

And, despite a commanding display from captain Josh Hughes and Olly Stevenson, Withersfield could not claw their way back into the game.

Newmarket Tn 4West Wrattling 2

Tesco Cup, under-13 second round

A DEPLETED West Wrattling side could have crumbled after going 2-0 down to an A division side inside 10 minutes.

However, they buckled down and grafted hard, clawing their way back with goals from Gedny and Lambert.

The fact that they felt they were awarded more free kicks in the game than in any other match this season speaks volumes for the amount of pressure they exerted.

Eventually, the Newmarket side's strength, skill and creation earned a killer fourth goal.

Haverhill Rovers 2Parkfields 2

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14B BOTH sides fought hard for the right to boss midfield in the top-of-the-table clash.

Alex Chamberlain fired in a fierce half-volley to break the deadlock but Parkfields were level inside five minutes as defenders delayed in clearing a bouncing clearance.

However, Haverhill regained the lead before the break, Jordan Cowdrey cutting in from the left to unleash a fierce drive into the corner.

And, although Rovers had chances to kill the game off – the best was Will Gregory's powerful header which crashed against the crossbar – they had to make do with a share of the points after a somewhat

Sign points to a win for Bareham jnr

THE all-Bareham clash for the Signpost Paints Cup at Haverhill ended with a win for son Andrew over his father, Eamonn.

Andrew Bareham, winner of the Club Championship a couple of weeks after his father won the Senior Club Championship, turned on the pressure with an eagle on the 14th. After a solid par on the 17th, he clinched victory 2 & 1.

Dave Whiting won the Spencer Woods Cup after a tough final against Duncan Galloway which went to the first play-off hole.

And in a closely-fought Mugs Cup final, for golfers with a handicap of 19 and over, Neil Saville pipped Trevor Broomfield, winning on the 18th to finish 2up.

■ Haverhill's ladies' team travelled to Bourn for a friendly, which ended in a draw, and also played the first round of the Turkey Trot. Sheila Price has the early lead with 37pts from Jacqueline Condon 33, and Kathy Bowman 33.

■ Braintree managed to overcome Haverhill's home advantage in a seniors match, winning 4½-3½.

■ Dave Pipe and Richard Parker won the CAB Edwards Cup, a greensome medal event with a nett score of 65. Colin Bradnam and Peter Driscoll were second with 68 ahead of Andy Craig and Dave Whiting.

■ Haverhill junior Michael Perrett won the club's J Houchen Cup and Medal competition with a nett score of 65 to win the trophy.

Results - Division One: 1 Mick Bennett 78-10-68, 2 Chris Vince 73-5-68, 3 Mark Stanton 80-12-68. Division Two: 1 Michael Perrett 85-20-65, 2 Dave Nicholas 89-19-70, 3 David Roope 87-17-70.

Division Three: 1 Steve Bush 92-25-67, 2 Jim Mulley 94-24-70, 3 John Ward 97-22-75.

Hickman Wrox on to give Rovers a boost

Wroxham 2 Haverhill Rovers 4
Ridgeons League, Premier Division

SUBSTITUTE Brad Hickman made an immediate impact as he sealed Rovers' surprise win against the former champions.

He had only just replaced forward Lee Salmons when the ball dropped to him inside the penalty area and he made no mistake from close range.

Peter Betts' side went ahead thanks to an own goal, but it was 1-1 at the break and Stuart Wardley's glancing header restored their lead moments after the interval.

Wroxham, who had lost just once in their last eight league games, levelled again, before Marc Abbott's shot from the edge of the area rolled into the corner of the net and Hickman's late effort.

Rovers are at home to Newmarket in the league on Friday.

Tree-mendous for Woods, Haverhill

MIKE Woods grabbed two tries for Haverhill as they made it five out of five by beating Dereham 34-3 in Eastern Counties Two.

From the kick-off, Haverhill punished Dereham, with Matt Reynolds and captain Ryan Raffell making ground before Joe Brown finished off from the resulting maul.

Jake Plumridge kicked Haverhill 8-0 ahead, before Chris Claydon's grub kick to the corner saw Woods get his first score.

Dereham replied with a drop goal, but when Plumridge was released on halfway, his jinking run and dummy pass ended with a try under the posts, which he converted for a 20-3 lead.

After half time, Brodie Patrick drew the defence to put in Woods for his second try, which Plumridge converted, and Claydon then finished off the scoring. Plumridge added the extras.

Skipper Ryan Raffell said: "We beat them up up-front and our backs scored all the points."
